DR. J. E. SMITH,
 NO. 91 TWELFTH STREET.

The best evidence of a physician's success is the testimony of his patients. His services prove that I have dealt honorably and fairly with those who have consulted me. I never used a patient's name, nor have I ever given a certificate to any person, nor have I ever given a hundred certificates from those whom I have cured after they had been pronounced incurable. A thorough medical examination, with a full history, and familiarity with therapeutic agents, a close observation of temperamental peculiarities, and strict attention to hygiene, are the means of success. My opinion is, however, and I frankly give the patient my opinion.
